

Canadian born Jonny Craig has all the right moves. His new solo record "A Dream is a Question You Don't Know How to Answer" has been steadily become the new standard for breakout artists. The Ex- /Dance Gavin Dance/ and current /Emarosa / front man has blessed our ears with this in depth and reflective endeavor. Jonny Craig has never been afraid to lay all the cards out on the table, and the vulnerability is audible from start to finish on his first solo project.

One only has to look as far as his video for "IstillfeelherpartIII", to gain insight into the dark yet unlashes world that Jonny's music stems from. Despite Jonny's laundry list of credit already in today's scene, his solo work stands alone as an independently remarkable feat for anyone to attempt. Simply put, either you love Jonny Craig, or you just haven't heard him yet.